

For more information contact:
Sara Beth Warne
sbwarne@aginginplaceservices.net
615-330-9918
Nashville, Tennessee

The Moving Month of May APS celebrates National Senior Move Managers Week

Nashville – May 5, 2015 – Aging in Place Transition Services (APS) is a proud member of the National Association of Senior Move Managers (NASMM). The week of May 10 – 15 2015 has been declared National Senior Move Managers Week by NASMM. During this week, NASMM will be promoting the value of Senior Move Management companies like APS and the ongoing commitment to assisting older adults and families with later lifestyle transitions.

APS has worked closely with NASMM on several other recent initiatives. This winter, APS teamed up with NASMM and the national charity Move For Hunger to organize a food drive that raised more than 600 pounds in food reserves for Second Harvest Food Bank. APS was honored to receive the 2015 Hunger Fighting Hero Award.

The APS team organized the food drive which included drop off locations at the following senior communities: Belmont Village Senior Living, Brookdale Green Hills Cumberland, Emeritus Hendersonville-Brookdale, Homewood-Brookdale Belle Meade and Pennington Place-Brookdale Hendersonville. APS awarded prizes to the senior centers which collected the greatest amount of perishable goods. APS donated $100 to Move for Hunger. Belmont Village collected the first place prize $75 and The Cumberland won the second place prize of $50. Both donations were made to the employee funds at those facilities.

Along with organizing the food drive, APS has been busy over the last few months with several other community projects. APS participated in the 2015 Home Show at the Tennessee State Fairgrounds; sponsored the “Golden Years” event at the Fifty Forward Senior Center; and was a participating sponsor in the Williamson County Senior Health Fair at the Factory in Franklin, TN.

The APS has been busy working on several successful client projects. Be sure and visit our website (www.aginginplaceservices.net) to learn more about these projects through client testimonials, photos and videos.

Donna Cannon (left) and Laurie Larson (far right) from Belmont Village accept check for first place from Lisa Cummings (middle) of APS

We are also busy organizing several estate sales this spring. These are also posted on the APS website.

“APS is honored to be recognized by Move For Hunger our community food drive.” stated Sara Beth Warne, APS founder and president. “We are also honored to be apart of NASMM which is internationally recognized for its innovative programs, leadership and expertise on issues related to Senior Move Management, aging in place, and transition and relocation issues affecting older adults.”

Warne goes on to say, “ The APS team truly understands how stressful downsizing and moving can be for most seniors. We have a history of working with many seniors and their families to make this transition as smooth as possible. Many of our referrals come from satisfied customers spreading the word about our services to other friends and families with similar needs. This endorsement of the APS Team is this best promotion possible.”

“National Senior Move Managers Week and beyond, my team and I want to be the “go to” company for seniors and their families when they are looking for information on aging in place, relocation and transition service,” adds Warne. “And, we want to continue to serve our community when the need is there ... just as we did with feeding the hungry by collecting perishable food.”

(Left to right) Sarah Mueller from Cumberland with Lisa Cummings and Sara Beth Warne of APS and Cindy Wilkins from the Cumberland accepting check and prizes for second place.

About Aging in Place Transition Services:

For over six years the Aging in Place team has helped clients renovate existing spaces, research alternative housing solutions, organize furniture and belongings, and offer senior move management services in Tennessee and surrounding states. More information about the company’s services can be found on the website: www.aginginplaceservices.net.